Lab 8

Questions:

Sorry, Can't demo because I only have one pc at home so can't show screenshots

Q1   The major difference between TCP Server and Client implementations is that the TCP server creates a listening socket

Q2   The major difference between UDP server and TCP server implementations is that the UDP server doesn't care if there is connections with the client, it just sends and receives data